Still A Craze For Harbor Days

By Laura Pedulli

Impeccable weather drew throngs of appreciative crowds on Saturday to Mattapoisett Lion's Club's annual Harbor Days event. Guests browsed the booths of more than 100 crafters and artisans in Shipyard Park as musicians strutted their stuff in the gazebo. Smells of freshly prepared seafood and burgers wafted through the air; meanwhile, a few attendees took advantage of boat tours that offered scenic vistas of Mattapoisett's harbor.

Among booths selling artistic creations and nonprofits representing a variety of causes, Mattapoisett Lions Club volunteers manned an extensive raffle table. To participate in Harbor Days, each booth is required to donate a raffle item. All proceeds directly benefit the service organization, which participates in a slate of community projects in the area.

Entering into his 19th consecutive year of participation in Harbor Days, basket weaver Keith Boling remarked that the fair has grown considerably in size. "It is a phenomenal fair for us. It is always done well; the Lions Club runs an excellent fair," he said. Mr. Boling and his wife Margaret sold dyed wicker baskets and purses adorned with seashells and rocks. Basic weaving became "therapy" for Mr. Boling after a car accident many years ago, when a friend provided him with a mold, baskets and books during his recovery. His interest eventually blossomed into his own business and now he regularly attends ten fairs per year.

Conversely, Dartmouth resident Denise Maranhas is participating in the event for the first time. "I'm excited to see what will happen," she said, noting the burgeoning crowds. Ms. Maranhas is an artist who fuses stained glass patterns in a kiln into functional objects, including clocks and cheese platters. She began fusing glass after taking a class three years ago on the use of stained glass, and took to it so much she bought a kiln of her own.

The nonprofit Helping Hands and Hooves again offered its popular hair wrapping services. "This is the most fun booth," said Debbi Dyson. The booth bustled with activity; volunteers enthusiastically wrapped strands of young women's hair in multicolor beads in exchange for a donation towards its cause – providing therapeutic horse rides to teens and adults with disabilities.

Marilyn Quilty, who handcrafts belt buckles and elaborate jewelry, is in her fourth year of participation. "It's the only summer show I do, and there is good weather every year," she said, adding, "I like the people, it is a nice atmosphere." A mother of three, Ms. Quilty is a self-taught artist who turned a hobby into a full-out business.

In its fifth year, the harbor tours offered an opportunity for attendees to see Mattapoisett by boat. The small cost to participate entirely benefits the Mattapoisett Lions Club. On that unusually wind-free Saturday, David Kaiser of the Mattapoisett Boatyard led groups of about a dozen on 30-minute tours among Mattapoisett's approximately 800 moorings. He said the waiting list for a mooring ranges between five and ten years, "although it used to be for 20 years," he noted. Mr. Kaiser also pointed out Mattapoisett's old shipbuilding piers, which actively built whaling ships during the 19th century.

While Mr. Kaiser led the boat to Ned's Point and its historic lighthouse, passengers watched three stand-up paddle boarders enjoy the serene waters. Mr. Kaiser pointed out that Buzzards Bay usually is windier and typically is known for its breezes, which are especially noticeable from the Block Island area up to the Cape Cod Canal. He attributes the wind zone to ocean currents, which is why the water temperatures are warmer in the area than further north, he said. In addition, he pointed out an old traditional wooden boat from Martha's Vineyard that "warmed my heart," he said.

After 20 years, Harbor Days is still going on strong and remains a beloved tradition for locals and visitors alike. This year the weather contributed again to another successful event.

Organizer Betty Roberts said that the event was a great opportunity for the museum to make a little money, and a chance for local artists to get the exposure they need. 20 percent of painting sales went to the museum. Ms. Roberts relied on returning artists and word of mouth to build the show.

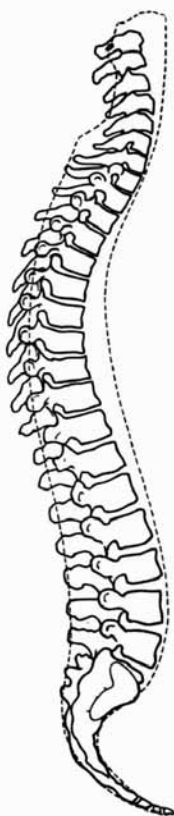

The show's revival was due in part to prompting from artist Donna Junier, an oil-landscape artist who missed having the art show event. "I've been driving Betty crazy to do this because I sold my first painting four years ago at the art show," she explained. Like some of the other local artists represented at the show, Ms. Junier does not have formal training, but enjoys working with oils just the same. Ms. Junier's three paintings in the show were all landscapes of ocean settings, entitled: "Incoming Fog", "Eye of the Storm" and "Fish House".

The publicity poster for the Art Show and Sale was based on a painting entitled "Who Cares" by New Bedford artist Sylvia Morrell. The poster, which sold as prints at the show for $5, depicts a carefree woman, clad in a red sundress and wide-brimmed hat, riding her bike near the beach. A dog in the bike basket peeps her head out to enjoy the ocean air, and the beach roses in the foreground give the viewer a sense of joy and familiarity. The painting reflects Ms. Morrell's favorite subject matter: happy people.

"I always try to [capture] happy people," said Ms. Morrell. "Most people are happy – most of the people I am around are."

Ms. Morrell, who typically works with oils, has studied at the Venice Art Museum in Florida and with Jesse Martin in Freetown, MA. She has a room in her home specially dedicated to her craft, but didn't get started on painting until she was retired.

"I do this for fun," said Ms. Morrell. "I started when I retired and I didn't know I could do anything." For Ms. Morrell, the creative outlet is a source of joy. "I love characters," she said, and she gives a name to each of the characters in her paintings, in addition to naming the painting itself. "As I'm painting, it comes to me," she said. "The dog is Thumbelina and [the woman on the bike] is arrives to key visitors in to the Ned's Point Lighthouse for another day of tours. The lighthouse visitors range from Texas vacationers to Rochester residents, but they all have in common one thing: they have never been inside the Ned's Point Lighthouse.

The 172-year-old structure embodies Mattapoisett, vying with the Route 6 seahorse for the most recognizable symbol in town. There is no shortage of visitors to the lighthouse grounds. On any given day, there are dog-walkers, joggers and beach-loungers, all enjoying the sights of Buzzard's Bay. But how many of these people have actually toured the historic structure's interior?

"A lot of people have been here, but have never been inside," said Ralph Dlouhy, a Coast Guard auxiliariarist and tour guide.

In an ongoing quest to make the Ned's Point Lighthouse and its history available to the public, the Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 63 has been conducting summer tours of the lighthouse on Thursday mornings this summer, just as they have done for over a decade. Groups are limited to five people at a time, since the beacon area is cramped quarters.

The lighthouse was made from rocks acquired from local beaches, and the interior granite slab stairs are held in place by gravity only, incrementally building upon each other. At the top of the stairs is a ladder that leads to the upper beacon chamber. This ladder is slightly treacherous, so for this reason, the Flotilla asks visitors to not wear flip-flops.

Upstairs, visitors learn all about the history of the lighthouse. Visitors can see the outline of an overgrown stone foundation near the base of the lighthouse, which was the location of the lightkeeper's house. According to Mr. Dlouhy, the lightkeeper's house stood at that spot until 1923. The lightkeeper was responsible for keeping the light fueled and operational. When the lighthouse was first built in 1838, Mr. Dlouhy said that the light was fueled by whale oil. To this day, there are still original brass flues in the top part of the lighthouse for ventilation.

The lightkeeper's house was moved to Pocasset in 1923, to serve as the home at Wing's Neck Light. Mr. Dlouhy said that the house was floated on a barge across Buzzard's Bay, and it still stands in Pocasset today as a private residence.

The Ned's Point whale-oil lantern was replaced with a Fresnel lens in the latter part of the 19th century, and was electrified in the 1920s. The Fresnel lens is hard to come by nowadays, since it was a highly sought-after antique. "Most are in museums or have been absconded," said Mr. Dlouhy.

The light in the lantern room underwent great changes from 1838 to modern times. Now it is an "isophase" light that uses photocell technology. When the sun sets, the photocell alerts the lantern. Mr. Dlouhy allowed the young visitors on the tour to place their hand over the photocell, tricking the light into igniting.

"That's cool," remarked Matthew Hathaway, a Rochester student on the tour.

All but one-sixth of the Ned's Point land is Mattapoisett-owned. The immediate plot that the lighthouse stands on, however, belongs to the Coast Guard. The light was decommissioned in the 1950s, but this decommission was not met favorably by sailors, said Mr. Dlouhy. The Ned's Point Lighthouse had become a Buzzard's Bay landmark over the years and sailors did not adjust to the light's absence well, which led to the light being re-commissioned about a decade later.

Being made of stone has made the Ned's Point Lighthouse resistant to the many devastating storms that have swept through Buzzard's Bay over the past two centuries: the Hurricane of 1938, Hurricane Carol, Gloria, Bob, and more. A large, black spike at the building's apex keeps the building grounded if a bolt of lightning hits it.

The interior steps are dank and reminiscent of a scary castle – Mr. Dlouhy said that it is really important for the building to be maintained a certain way, so the mortar is not disturbed. That means no pressure-washing, and "using hoses is a no-no".

The closest lighthouse in style to the Ned's Point Lighthouse is the Palmer's Island Lighthouse in New Bedford, which is privately maintained.

Besides the "no flip-flop" rule, the Flotilla says that visitors must be at least 10 years old to take the trip up to the lantern room. This free tour is a must for (HDC) was called to order by Chairperson Debi Ladd on July 15, 2010 at 7:13 pm at the Rochester Town Hall. Also present were committee members Sarah Johnston, Carolyn Gilmore, Marjorie Skrutski, Bob Mogilnicki and Secretary Gloria Vincent.

As the first order of business, the commission approved June 2 and June 9 minutes.

In correspondence, Ms. Ladd reported on the receipt of a letter from Town Hall detailing the new open meeting policy, which requires a 48-hour notice of a scheduled meeting accompanied by an agenda. Ms. Johnston volunteered to provide the agenda personally to Town Clerk and Selectmen Chairman Naida Parker, who requested a hard copy of the document.

A brief discussion arose about an unidentified pole structure in the back of Sperry Tents that may require HDC approval. Ms. Johnston weighed in, stating that the structure fits the character of a utility building. "I don't think a pile of poles looks a whole lot different than a tractor... Barns aren't neat... Personally, I don't find it distasteful," she said. Ms. Skrutski concurred that as a district resident, she had no issues with the structure. However, the commission decided that it is important for residents to follow the process. As such, the members voted unanimously to send a letter to Sperry Tents informing the owner that they may need HDC approval for the structure.

The commission then held an informal discussion with Paul Gibbs about window alternations he is planning for his property. It was undetermined if the home improvement project would require a building permit, thus triggering the need for HDC approval; however, because the new windows are not storm windows – but screen windows – Ms. Ladd said his project would require HDC approval. The commission then offered to provide the paperwork if he indeed needs a building permit.

At this point, the commission met with planning board guests Chairman Arnold Johnson, Gary Florindo and John DeMaggio to hear their thoughts on a petition that would abolish the HDC. The petition – originally slated for the spring annual meeting – was tabled by petitioner Tom Skrutski because state law requires certain steps to be completed before abolishing an HDC. Specifically, the commission must provide a report of its benefits to the community and public hearings are required. After this occurs, it is voted on at a town meeting.

Ms. Ladd reported recent correspondence from Town Counsel Blair Bailey, who said the HDC is giving the appearance of stalling the process to avoid the fall meeting. She said she responded to him that the commission needed time to complete a thorough study and as volunteers who meet monthly, that would take time.

In his comments, Planning Board Chairman

Johnson said the board currently is working on finalizing a town-wide land use plan and writing corresponding bylaws that would likely be presented by next year's spring town meeting. "I can certainly envision that the historic district stay as is," he said in terms of the district remaining a part of the Master Plan. Mr. Johnson added that in his experience, he could not recall any applications being held up by the commission.

Mr. Johnson also elaborated on the planning board's overall goals, which include zoning the town center as mixed-use. Also, he discussed efforts in Rochester to improve the application process; for example, he said town boards now are meeting together with a developer in the beginning of the application procedure to ensure everyone "is on the same page." He said the HDC could be a part of that process.

Dispelling the notion that a town without the HDC would create a "free-wheeling" environment for development, he said, "even if the [HDC] is abolished, your standards would be expected by the planning board. Buildings have to blend in," he said, adding, "I don't see [the HDC] as a detriment, so I don't know the advantage of the town of eliminating it." Responding to an inquiry from Ms. Ladd whether the work of the HDC interferes with the planning board, Mr. Johnson responded, "I don't think so. I've been on the planning board for ten years going on eleven, and I've had no problem." Overall, Mr. Johnson emphasized the importance of everyone following the rules, which the planning board values as a philosophy.

Talking about her vision of the HDC, Ms. Ladd said, "It's not about me, or the people sitting at the table. It is about what the town people want, obviously." Ms. Ladd said the commission exists to assist residents with preserving the historic value of their homes and stated that the view of the commission as strict is inaccurate.

Mr. Gibbs, who had spoken earlier with the commission on his windows proposal, offered his perspective on the matter. "In particular in this difficult market, I would have to say honestly the [HDC] is not an addition to the valuation of the property, precisely because it is seen as encumbrance upon people's property rights and interests to do whatever they please with their investments," he said. "These kinds of encumbrances tend to send people away from places. I've heard people in other towns say they are glad they don't live in a district... One more layer of authority is not particularly welcomed," he said. Ms. Ladd responded that there are no empty houses on the market in the district right now.

Overall, Mr. Johnson said he would give the new members of the commission a chance to settle into their roles. Additionally, he said upon the receipt of the final report, the planning board will hold a public hearing to formally assess the petition for HDC elimination.

Following the meeting with the planning board members, the commission voted to individually review

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

*I have a 4-year-old cat that stays indoors.
Do I really need to get her shots?*

In a word, YES. It is really important for your cat to stay current on her rabies shots at the very least. Stuff happens. She could escape outdoors and get attacked or a rabid raccoon or skunk could get into the house. It may sound farfetched but we have to deal with this scenario a few times a year where an unvaccinated animal gets bitten by an unknown assailant.

Taking your pet to the vet for an annual examination is also really important. If a pet year is like 7 people years it would be like you seeing your physician every 7 years. It is especially important if your cat is getting on in years.

was called to order by Chairman Jay Ryder on Monday, July 19 at 7:15 pm in the Marion Town Hall. Also present were board members Tom Magauran, John Sweeney, Steve Gonsalves, Jay Crowley, Joseph Napoli, Sherman Briggs, Jr., and Planning Board Secretary, Terry Santos.

The first order of business was a request for discussion by Nathan Canto and Don Bliss regarding conditions issued to John D'Italia c/o Nathan Canto at 119 Wareham Street. Mr. Canto, representing building owner, Wayne Sullivan, wanted to discuss the three conditions that the Planning Board required in an earlier decision. These included: having two curb-cuts closed in, a landscape plan and installation of a sprinkler system in the two apartments located on the second floor of the building.

The curb cuts were required to prevent parking in front of the building and are required by the Massachusetts Highway Department, whose rules are outside of the Planning Board's control. Mr. Canto said he was asking for reconsideration of the parking requirement on the property and asked if two or three cars could be parked on the west end of the building, which the Planning Board had denied. Mr. Canto stated that "money was tight" and that he had no renters for the commercial site because, in part, the parking was too far away from the entry, and was a deterrent to prospective tenants. Canto also said he needed more time to complete the required conditions. It was agreed that Mr. Canto would meet with the building commissioner to work out the timing of the landscape plan and other details on the project. In closing, Chairman Ryder said, "We want to see the place occupied, successful and up and running. We're here to help."

The next item on the agenda was the opening of a public hearing on the Special Permit for Setback, Site Plan Review and Special Permit for Retail for the proposed new Cumberland Farms site at 406 Wareham Street. The applicant was proposing retail use in a general business zone.

Mr. Briggs read a letter from Fire Chief, Thomas Joyce, expressing concern about the public safety issues, increased exposures and proximity of neighboring properties which would be at risk, including Eastern Bank and the retail operations in that building, as well as the apartment building which abuts the site. Vice Chairman Tom Magauran noted that the Chief did not have the current site plan in front of him when he wrote the letter, so discussion of the letter was passed over. Ms. Crowley, remarked that she drove by the rear of the current store on July 19 and noted that "housekeeping out back left much to be desired."

Town resident Ted North asked, "How do you compute the size of the proposed building, gas pumps and canopy in relation to current town by-laws?" Mr. North noted there were two caps in the current by-law, stating that retail units have to be less than 4999 square feet and parking intensity cap must be 2000 square feet for the parking space allocated. The current site plan calls for 18 parking spaces. Mr. North also pointed to the site drawings on display and asked, "Why are we agreeing to a reduced setback agreement [from Route 6] that was made, as an exception, back in the 1980s?"

Mr. North told the board that he had looked at the by-laws and thought that the applicant needed to file more permit requests, both for the setback of the canopy from Route 6 and for the replacement of the gas tanks. Cumberland Farms proposes to remove the 24,000 gallon gas storage tanks and replace them with 40,000 gallon tanks. Mr. Magauran thanked Mr. North for his comments and said, "We'll take it up with [town] counsel."

Chairman Jay Ryder noted that the Board of Health had a question regarding the sale of hot dogs and wanted to know if the public had access to self serve, or if the cashier or other employee handled the food service for the customer. Cumberland Farms representative, Rob Pellegrini, said he believed it was self serve, but that he would clarify that for the board. Mr. Pellegrini said that an issue over the hot dogs, "wouldn't kill the deal. We'd eliminate them, if necessary."

Architect John Aharonian, of Aharonian and Associates of Smithfield, RI spoke on behalf of Cumberland Farms with regard to architectural issues raised by the board. Mr. Aharonian said that Field Engineering had requested that the site plan show the detail of offsite drainage on Front Street and wanted to review snow storage calculations. It was noted that if there were more than 13 inches of snow, the snow would be trucked offsite.

When asked about the photo of the proposed project, which is in the window of Cumberland Farms, Mr. Aharonian noted that it was a simulation, and not a real building. "We've never built one like this," said

CF representative Manny Pavia. "This is a totally new building concept." Town resident Carol Sanz, asked, "Why are there dormers, why columns, and why a second floor? Will that floor be occupied?"

Mr. Aharonian held up the original proposal and the current proposal, side by side, and said that all the changes in the building were made to satisfy the various requirements of the Planning Board.

Mr. North pointed out the location of the fire hydrant on the site plan and said it was located 35 feet from 40,000 gallons of gasoline. "I'll plan to be out of town when the fire happens," he said. Rob Pellegrini, on behalf of Cumberland Farms, noted that "fumes are combustible – the liquid is not."

Chairman Jay Ryder closed the public hearing by summarizing what was needed by the Board prior to making a decision on the Special Permits. "We need comments from the architectural engineer and something in writing from the Board of Health, regarding their concerns," he said. "Also, the board will speak with the DOT regarding traffic concerns." A decision on the permits will be rendered on August 22. The board will meet again on August 2 at 7:15 pm at the Marion Town House to discuss the permit requests.

A discussion followed on an application from Amber Rose Boutique and Day Spa, 368 Front Street c/o Pany Lawson who is requesting a Waiver of Site Plan Details. Board members John Sweeney and Sherman Briggs, Jr., recused themselves from the discussion. Steve Grima, representing the applicant, requested that the board waive the environmental assessment, storm water management requirements and a traffic study since, as Mr. Grima pointed out, all abutters had common ownership. The building has a total of 1576 square feet, which will result in 600 square feet of retail space and the remainder will be the day spa and personal services.

The board requested that Mr. Grima present an interior layout/floor plan to see what it would look like. It was agreed that some hedge cutting would take place to improve visibility for motorists at the Front Street entrance. A motion was made and approved to waive all but what was specifically asked for by the board. The issue was assigned to be decided at 7:30 pm on August 2.

In another matter, Board member, Tom Magauran, was voted to another term on the Community Preservation Committee. In closing, the board approved the minutes of the past meetings. The meeting adjourned at 9:20.

The Board voted to accept Field Engineering's report on the Pine Island subdivision, and officially closed the public hearing on the subdivision. "We've heard enough," said Mr. Mathieu, who then motioned to accept applicant Greta and Timothy Fox's request to continue their hearing until August 2.

The Board then heard from an attorney representing Fred Klein, who wished to present a "what-if" scenario to the Board. Mr. Klein had inherited 7 Oakland Street and would like to subdivide the lot, but ran into a frontage issue. On the Oakland Street side, the first lot would meet the necessary 125-foot frontage, but that would still leave the second lot short. Both proposed lots would be large enough to conform to bylaws.

The Board determined that, if the structures currently at the location pre-date 1967, the lots would be grandfathered into old frontage laws and Mr. Klein would likely be able to continue with his project. According to the online assessor's database, there are two structures at the location: a ranch built in 1944, and a cottage built in 1955. After gathering official records and some neighbors' testimony, the Kleins will return with a more formal application.

Two Mattapoisett residents also came before the Board seeking council in regards to their privately-owned telephone poles. Kenneth and Susan Rocha of 4 Kyla Way wanted to determine who was the official owner of three utility poles on the private road that leads to their property. After speaking with NStar and Verizon, they determined that the utility poles were not company-owned, and after speaking with the town, they determined that they were also not town-owned. Mr. and Ms. Rocha were hoping to find a way to sign off ownership and liability in regards to the poles, but first they needed the Board's help to figure out exactly who owned the poles.

The poles exist on a road that the Rochas, in addition to neighbors, have an easement to use. NStar has agreed to take on the poles, including any liability and maintenance, as long as easement-holders sign off on the poles and pay $1600 to offset taxes that NStar would

Mr. Rocha said that his neighbors would not sign off because they do not think they own the poles, and are afraid that if NStar acquires the poles, they may decide to shift their location towards the street. The Rochas, who have some of their utilities underground, would even be interested in running the utilities under the whole private street and removing the poles altogether.

"This is an accident waiting to happen," said Mr. Rocha. "I know at some point [in a storm], those trees are going to come down." As it stands, if the Rocha family and the neighbors privately own the poles, any damage sustained, including blown transformers, could cost them thousands to fix.

"Ownership has no bearing on whether you can sign an easement to NStar," Mr. Mathieu said. He said that being an easement holder was sufficient to pass the poles onto the utility company. "You've just got to convince your neighbors," he added.

The Board also suggested that the Rochas might want to contact an attorney to see if the former owners of the property are still owners of the right-of-way. The Rochas decided that they would follow up with an attorney and thanked the Board for their guidance.

The Board voted to adjourn the public meeting at 7:27 pm.

ConCom Seeks Associate Members

Rochester Conservation Commission

By Anne O'Brien-Kakley

A regular meeting of the Rochester Conservation Commission was called to order by Chairman John Teal on July 20, 2010. Also in attendance were members Kevin Cassidy, Laurene Gerrior, Judy Schaaf, Christopher York and Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon.

In the first public hearing, a representative from Thompson Farrell came before ConCom to represent applicant Norbert Leblanc, who wished to complete a septic system repair at 173 Braley Hill Road. The septic system repair would include the installation of a new 1,500-gallon tank, a leach field and some grading.

The continued hearing was for a determination of applicability, to determine if a notice of intent would be necessary. At a previous project presentation, ConCom had expressed concerns over the lack of wetlands delineation in the plan, and had some questions about flood plains in the area of the septic system.

The representative from Thompson Farland presented an updated plan to ConCom to add wetland delineations, but could not add more flood plain information since none was currently available from FEMA flood maps.

Ms. Farinon said that there had been some flooding issues in the area of Ashley Brook, thereby prompting their concerns about the septic system's impact on the area, but that a septic system upgrade is "obviously very beneficial to the environment". Upon Ms. Farinon's recommendation, ConCom voted to declare negative determination of applicability, thereby waiving the need for a project notice of intent.

In a second hearing, ConCom heard from a representative for Michael Panagakos in regards to his plans to remove a crushed stone driveway. The plans included loaming and hydroseeding the area as part of a landscape improvement plan on Mr. Panagakos' property, located at 36 Gerrish Road.

The gravel will be loaded onto a truck and taken away from the property, and the old driveway will become part of the lawn. Ms. Farinon asked the representative, Mr. Medeiros, to call her when installing the new silt barrier in the plan so she could oversee that part of the project. Otherwise, upon Ms. Farinon's recommendation, ConCom voted to declare negative determination of applicability on the project, waiving the need for a public notice of intent.

The minutes of the July 6 meeting were approved.

visit for a Rochester Land Trust (RLT) property on Route 28, across the street from a recycling center and next to an NStar sub-station. The plot was donated so RLT could profit from its resale. ConCom thought that the land, which is industrially-zoned, stands the potential to be a profitable business location, which would also mean a source of tax income for the town. ConCom decided to discuss this matter further at a meeting after a site visit.

ConCom took a moment to discuss their need for associate members. Rochester residents interested in joining ConCom as an associate member can contact the Conservation office for further information: 508-763-5421, ext. 3.

The threat of the Asian Longhorn beetle is getting closer to Rochester, with damage confirmed in the Worcester area. ConCom thought that they should start thinking about an approach toward the threat, including how to keep the public informed on the beetle. "That could wipe out all the hardwood," said Mr. Cassidy, who estimated that over 100 hardwood trees on his property had been destroyed this year by a pest.

According to Ms. Farinon, ConCom member Rosemary Smith had plans to walk the Rochester town forest to evaluate the forest's needs. Currently, ConCom is concerned with reports of felled trees in the area, and fear that the debris is a liability to the town. The Committee brainstormed about inexpensive ways that they could remove the fallen trees. Chairman Teal and Ms. Farinon thought that it was worth at least contacting loggers to see if they could do the clearing labor in exchange for the wood.

ConCom voted to adjourn at 7:45 pm.

For the first public hearing, representatives for Fernando Sardinha of Sardinha Family Trust formally appealed a May 11 planning board decision regarding a proposed site plan for Always in Bloom at 454 Wareham St. Before speaking with representatives Jack O'Leary of Merrill Associates and Attorney Mark Coltin, the board reviewed comments received from other town boards concerning the planning board decision. The conservation commission wrote that the proposed plan may be within 100 feet of the wetland buffer zone and "that is a situation we will need to investigate." The Board of Health stated that a small 6 by 8 foot dumpster is required for trash removal.

Mr. O'Leary and Mr. Coltin then summarized the situation at hand. Specifically, he stated that Mr. Sardinha filed an application for a non-valid, non-conforming use conversion for a new florist business to replace the property's current less intensive plan. Attorney Coltin noted that the plan required no construction or exterior changes, just minor improvements to the site. The applicant had anticipated on a minor review, "but we went to the planning board and they insisted on a major review," he said, adding that, "we did not anticipate the site work they [now] require."

The attorney said after a series of hearings, the planning board's final decision required several changes to the site plan prior to obtaining the higher-level use. "There is a variety of conditions that we had no problem with, but some of the conditions don't work and some conditions exceed the authority of the planning board and they don't do anything but create costs," Mr. Coltin said.

Mr. O'Leary then reviewed the conditions point by point. Firstly, he said the planning board wanted the applicant to demonstrate compliance with current parking bylaws. Currently, the site has grandfathered parking set back at 50 feet from Route 6, he said, but the planning board insisted on 11 additional spots in the back and the widening of the parking lot width. He said the applicant agreed to add gravel to extend the width but noted, "The business is very busy, but there is no demand for parking out back." He also said a requirement that no snow storage be allowed on the back spots is objectionable.

The planning board also required an extensive storm water management, which Mr. O'Leary said the applicant agreed to implement, including the addition of a stormwater basin. Also, the applicant is amenable to adding an evergreen screen on the eastside of the property.

Mr. O'Leary then briefly responded to the conservation committee's comments on the site's proximity to wetlands, stating that upon investigation "it really applies to the neighboring lot" and anticipates it will be resolved next month. Typos in the planning board decision also were mentioned, including a mix-up of when a dumpster can be unloaded and incorrect wattage requirements for outdoor lighting.

Conditions deemed unfavorable by the applicant then were described by O'Leary. He said one condition requiring a dumpster does not make sense because the business generates only one trash bag per day. He did say the applicant would build the structure to hold the dumpster, but the dumpster itself is not required.

The applicant then cited problems with a condition requiring screening on the southerly property line. He said an abutter, who was present at the meeting, does not want the screening. He said the screening requirement reflects bylaws for spaces between parking lots and residential areas, but this particular section of the property is a driveway. "We object to that," Mr. O'Leary said.

The next major item of concern is a condition requiring the applicant to legally combine this lot with the adjacent Dunkin Donuts lot, which the Sardinha Family Trust also owns. The planning board fears of the possibility that the Dunkin Donuts and Always in Bloom parcels could eventually have different owners, which it wants to avoid. Mr. O'Leary admitted the applicant agreed to the condition at first, but after investigation learned of “the enormous scope of work” required going through the land court process. He said it would cost thousands of dollars in survey field time and possibly take up to a year to finalize. As an alternative, he said the applicant could “agree to a condition that could prevent the applicant to sell the parcels separately.”

The representatives also took issue with a condition that required all changes to be completed by 30 days. “It can't be done in 30 days, that merits an appeal itself,” Mr. Colin said, later adding that, “it is literally impossible.”

Another major issue of contention is the parking lot and sidewalk configuration out front. Mr. O'Leary said the planning board is looking to eliminate its grandfathered parking in some “vaguely specified manner,” which would preserve the handicapped spot but establish sidewalk and landscaping. “We simply don't agree; it is an expense and something we may not be able to get a permit from Mass Highway on. We believe this parking lot – even though it doesn't conform to the current bylaws – is safe... It is an unreasonable burden,” he said.

In response, Chairman Wedge said, “you've brought up legitimate issues, but we can't tweak all of these individual issues.” He said upon advice from Town Counsel Jon Whitten: “We are taking this up like an appellate court; we can't replace our judgment with planning board's judgment. That is not our role."

In response to a question from Mr. Wedge on what the applicant hopes to achieve, Attorney Coltin said, "We'd like to see the site plan decision overturned." He said that bylaws requiring construction are what should trigger a rigorous review process by the planning board. But since there is no construction required in this case, he thinks the planning board overstepped its role. "We expect some level of unreasonableness. To be blunt, I don't think this has happened," he said.

Attorney Coltin also explained that the applicant had to appeal within 30 days to the ZBA or take the case to the Appeals Court. "The Massachusetts Zoning Enabling Act restrains what we can do," he said, adding, "If we had asked [the planning board] for reconsideration, we would have lost our rights." Mr. Coltin also explained that if the ZBA agrees, the applicant's only recourse is to take it to the Superior Court; but he said he is hoping there are creative, alternative ways to solve the issues without that aggravation. "We are trying to get to the same result without costing the town money or aggravation. We are trying to be extremely reasonable," he said.

In the end, the board voted to work with Town Counsel Whitten on the appeal and finalize a decision within 90 days. After the hearing closed, Mr. Wedge remarked that this case is the first one in 12 years. He said the ZBA could only approve or deny the case without addressing specific concerns. "Either way it opens up a can of worms," he said.

In unrelated news, the board noted that applicants for a case tabled last February did not show up for the scheduled hearing tonight, thus decided to ask Mr. Whitten if there is a statute of limitations for a variance application. Further, it decided not to comment on two items, including a new handicap list and float recently approved at the spring town meeting, which the board supports.

With no other business at hand, the board voted to adjourn at 8:35 pm.

Marion Conservation Commission

By Joan Harnett-Barry

A meeting of the Marion Conservation Commission was called to order on Wednesday, July 14, 2010 at 7:00 pm by Chairman Norman A. Hills. Also present were members Sherman E. Briggs Jr., Lawrence B. Doman, Joel D. Hartley, and Secretary Diane R. Drake.

The first order of business was a continuation of a request for a determination of applicability by applicant William A. Sampson, whose request is to raze the existing dwelling at 43 Dexter Road, Dexter Beach, and reclaim the yard by clearing brush up to 15 feet from the wetland line. His motion was continued to August 11 at 7:00 pm.

Christopher Bryant's Notice of Intent to construct a one-acre aquaculture project in Job's Cove was continued to October 27 at 7:00 pm.

The next order of business was a discussion with T.J. Walker regarding cutting trees and other activities in the conservation restriction land behind 629 Point Road. Mr. Walker noted that when he purchased the Lot, 11B, he gifted 5 other lots which were given to the Conservation Commission "in perpetuity," but with qualifications. It was noted that the town assessor's office lists the land as "conservation," but board members discussed the need to review town categories of what is considered, "Open Space," "Conservation Commission" and "Lands Trust" properties and the differences between them. discussion ended with an agreement that ConCom will review the forestry plan initiated by Mr. Walker and arrange an appointment to walk the site.

The next order of business was a discussion of a request by the Sardinha Family Trust to expand the gravel parking lot behind 454 Wareham Street, and install a landscape berm and a storm water management system. Jack O'Leary of Merrill Associates presented the plan, which was required by the Marion Planning Board, for the addition of multiple parking spaces at Always in Bloom, a tenant of Sardinha Family Trust. Mr. O'Leary responded to various questions by saying that there would be no asphalt paving, only gravel and there would be no land leveling, as the grade would remain the same. The board agreed that a site visit would be needed, after boundary markers were installed, to understand where these additional parking spaces would be located.

The next item discussed was a request by Robert McNamara to remove construction debris at the east end of Shawondasse Road, and to add gravel to the road. McNamara told the board that the pile of debris was part of an old foundation with "about 30-40 pieces of re-bar", and that he will have an excavator just "scoop off", the debris and not dig or disturb the ground. The debris lies on both McNamara's property and the Sippican Lands Trust property. The board voted to approve the request with the condition that McNamara put straw and a 'conservation mix' to re-vegetate the area next to the Next up were Nathan and Aida Elder who wanted to discuss the buffer zone to wetlands at 148 Spring Street. The Elder's asked about the man-made ditch, which is now overgrown with brush and drains slowly. They asked who was responsible for the maintenance of the ditch. The ditch lies in the far corner of their property, which abuts the Sardinha Family Trust Property in the area behind their tenant, Always in Bloom, located at 454 Wareham Street. Chairman Hills and the board discussed the need to see the property with the boundary lines clearly marked and have associate member, Jeff Oakes, auger the lot line at the flower shop to delineate the wetland area. A site visit was agreed upon to take place on July 24.

Harbormaster Mike Cormier, along with CLE engineer, Sue Nelson, presented a notice of intent to construct a handicap access lift/boat lift at 1 Island Wharf. The plan includes a 10-foot by 20-foot float, and a 4-foot by 12-foot ramp to a landing abutting the existing timber walkway on the wharf. Cormier noted that the project has been federally filed under Chapter 91, with the Department of Environmental Protection. Cormier said the idea is to allow access for disabled individuals to get on and off boats, allowing them to continue to enjoy the water. The project cost is $25,000, and would come from the Waterways Account, which is funded by mooring, skiff and kayak sticker fees. The Harbormaster indicated that the project costs were higher, but he and his staff are doing most of the work. The only three costs of the project, which will not be completed by Cormier, are the purchase of the aluminum deck/platform, the pile driving and the electrical work required in the installation of the deck/lift. Chairman Hills asked about any oils or lubricants used in the hydraulics on the lift. Cormier said the lift was electric, with no oils/lubricants involved. In addition to the use as a handicap access lift, the lift can be used in the winter as a place for the 'ice breaker' boat to be stored, out of the water and ice, thus prolonging the lifespan of the vessel.

Another item discussed was a report by the Harbormaster of possible wetlands violations at the bottom of Bayberry Lane. The Harbormaster reported seeing illegal cutting of vegetation in a wetland area. The ConCom board agreed to a site visit within the week.

The last order of business was discussion of a letter received from Gregory Koss regarding his response of "maintenance mowing" at 32 Beach Street. Chairman Hills wrote an "enforcement order" letter requesting Mr. Koss to reestablish the proper line to the wetlands by discontinuing the mowing beyond the wetland boundary.

The board voted to adjourn at 8:45 pm.

a vocal opponent at the latest Town Meeting, suggesting the possibility of legal action against the Town of Mattapoisett.

Please consider (and refute, if you will) my logic:

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has mandated that Mattapoisett "address wastewater management issues for the next 20 years". This includes: 1. Reviewing wastewater needs of existing homes with on-site septic systems. 2. Evaluating alternatives with the intent of minimizing any discharge to the Fairhaven Wastewater Treatment Facility.

The Mattapoisett Water and Sewer Commissioners are insisting that my property be included in the project. On the other hand, they use the often-cited "special legislation" which enables Mattapoisett to deny others sewer access. The rationale: sewer capacity is a precious commodity.

In their public informational meeting prior to the Town Meeting, the Commissioners could not describe the method for determining the current sewer service area. This matter of record was videotaped.

The fact is that my property can conform to the DEP mandate by managing its wastewater needs "on-site". Innovative technologies are available now to ensure the safe, non-polluting function of my system long into the future.

If the Town of Mattapoisett forces my inclusion in the project, they will be defying both logic and the DEP.

What constitutes a "betterment" for some, is essentially an arbitrary and unsubstantiated tax for me.

I do not want to de-rail the entire project, however, I will continue to ask the Town for a deferment of the betterment fee, and/or an abatement of taxes. I invite others to keep calling me! 508-758-9464.

2010 is the last year that they will chair this race. During their 10-year tenure as directors, the Road Race has doubled the number of runners to nearing 1200 participants, has increased the number of sponsors and volunteers and has consistently been able to give seven to 10 $1,000 awards, yearly, to ORRHHS students. Danny and Holly worked countless hours all year long to make this event a success.

Numerous notes, calls and kudos continued to be received from runners who praise the Race as one of the best-organized competitions in which they have participated. Danny and Holly's tremendous efforts have given the Tri-Town area a memorable event – one where everyone can be proud.

Thank you Holly and Danny!

*Most appreciatively,

The Mattapoisett Council on Aging is pleased to announce that, through a generous donation from the Friends of the Elderly of Mattapoisett, Inc., each of the two, handicap accessible vans used for elder transportation will now be equipped with Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs). AEDs are portable electronic devices that diagnose potentially life threatening cardiac arrhythmias and treat them through defibrillation, electrical therapy which stops the arrhythmia. All Mattapoisett Council on Aging drivers and paid staff are trained in the use of AEDs and are certified in first aid.

The Mattapoisett Council on Aging now possesses three of these machines. The first, located at the Mattapoisett Social and Wellness Center, was donated to the Council on Aging in November of 2006 by the Mattapoisett Lions Club. This recent donation is important as these two new AEDs will serve as "traveling" defibrillators, available to elders while away on trips or traveling to medical appointments. This is

Correction

In an article titled "ConCom Extends Beach Clean-Up" in the July 15 issue of The Wanderer, it states: "Mr. Nicolosi noted that he is unsure if the commission had authority to extend the permit because the contractor [Geoff King] already exceeded the yardage of sand allowable under its permit." Regretfully, it should have read, "met" instead of exceeded, as the contractor (Mr. King) did not exceed the yard limit, and was in fact three yards below the limit.

Obituaries

Marilyn Flood died July 14 2010, after a valiant fight with cancer. A longtime resident of Mattapoisett, she was born and raised in the Somerville/Belmont area, living in Maine, Connecticut, and returning to Massachusetts in 1968.

Losing her parents at a young age, she was quite close to her aunt and uncle, Mary and Charlie Adams. Marilyn attended the University of Massachusetts, majoring in Spanish and Home Economics. Married to Nathan Flood in 1959, they raised two sons, Richard and Ken, with Marilyn teaching at several local schools. Her passions were spending time with family and friends, gardening, and finding ways to assist numerous local community groups. Among these groups were the Mattapoisett Women's Club, the Mattapoisett Garden Club, Mattapoisett Land Trust, Friends of the Elderly, First Unitarian Church of New Bedford, Coalition for Buzzards Bay, the Father Damien's Family Pantry, Womens Alliance, and the Mattapoisett Historical Society. In addition, she was one of the founders of the Mattapoisett Curbside Recycling, a cause she strongly supported.

Marilyn's companion was John Layport, recently deceased, of Rochester. She is survived by a son, Ken, his partner Alan, close family friends Lisa Ayotte and Mike Rivard, and several in-laws and their families, all of whom will miss her dearly.

Memorial arrangements will be at a later date. In lieu of flowers, please make a donation to one of the above groups, or to your favorite community group. For on-line guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

attached. Taxpayers are reminded that the preliminary bills are estimated based on the previous year's net tax amount and may include betterments, if regularly scheduled for apportionment.

Taxpayers are encouraged to register for making on-line payments through the Town's website, www.mattapoissett.net, and click on "Pay Taxes Online". By using eBill, taxpayers can have their payments withdrawn from their checking or savings accounts, or can make payments using Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover credit cards. Payments can be made using eBill until 11:59 pm on the due date. Other options for taxpayers are to mail their payments to P.O. Box 1596 or deposit payments in the mail slot located near the back corner of Town Hall.

Since payments are due in the Collector's Office no later than 4:00 pm on the due date, taxpayers should allow sufficient mail travel time when mailing payments. If paying by personal online banking, taxpayers should allow sufficient time for the bank to generate a check and mail it to the Town; and they should insure there is sufficient information on the check identifying which bill should be credited with the payment. Insufficient or incorrect information may result in posting delays or payment returns. New owners should contact the Collector's Office immediately if they have not received a tax bill.

According to State statute, failure to receive a tax bill does not relieve the taxpayer of the requirement to pay the tax bill and any resulting penalties and interest if the payment is late. If payment is not received in the Collector's Office by the due date, interest shall accrue daily at a rate of 14 percent, in accordance with state law.

Please call the Tax Collector's Office at 508-758-4100, ext. 1, if you did not receive a tax bill or for questions regarding payments.

Charles A. "Bud" Johnson, Jr., 90, of Marion passed peacefully on July 7, 2010. Born January 18, 1920 in Quincy, Massachusetts, he was the son of C. Abbott and Bertha (Titus) Johnson.

He is survived by his loving wife of 63 years, Carolyn "Jerre" (Jermyn), a graduate of Quincy City Hospital Class of 1944 who cared for him at home. He leaves his son, Robert B. Johnson and wife Julie of Bourne; daughter, Susan and her husband, Gary Nichols of Marion; Grandchildren, Tracy Nichols of Brookline, Michael Johnson, Jennifer Johnson and her daughter, Mariah, of Bourne, and Sara Johnson of San Diego, CA. He was preceded in death by his granddaughter, Laura Johnson.

He graduated from Quincy High School and Thayer Academy. He served two years in the Navy. He was born to work and loved people. He realized his love of sales as a teenager working at the Kennedy store in Weymouth Landing, one of a group of New England stores managed by his father. Early on Saturday mornings he would transport blocks of butter and cheese and dozens of eggs to the front of the store from the refrigerator chest in the rear, wearing his roller skates to service the customers faster.

He was in outside sales in his early years at Granite City Electric Supply and covered the South Shore and the Islands in his "beach wagon" selling, delivering and enjoying his customers as well as fellow employees and representatives in the industry. Many became life-long friends. He sold his partnership and retired as President of Granite City Electric Supply in 1992 after nearly 45 years with the company.

In his retirement he continued renovating a family home in Gilmanton, NH which his mother had operated as a country inn. Together with his business partner and friend he built a multi-unit condominium complex in Punta Gorda, FL where he and his wife wintered.

He was a Charter Director of the Hingham Lincoln Trust Company, a Life Member of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Quincy, and a member of The Kittansett Club in Marion.

He was laid to rest at the Evergreen Cemetery in Marion. A celebration of his life will be held at 3 pm on Saturday, August 14, 2010, at the Hingham Congregational Church, 366 Main Street, Hingham.

Remembrances may be made to Alzheimers Disease Research, 22512 Gateway Center Drive, Clarksburg, MD 20871-1950 or a charity of choice.

EDITOR'S PICK OF THE WEEK

Video Camp Offers Kids Professional Training, Fun By Laura Pedulli

Agent Pedro – with oversized sunglasses and a toothy smile – is an undercover Marion police officer running a sting operation to arrest a scam artist selling fake vitamin water. The scene is set; he approaches a woman selling her suspicious wares, with promises that the water will offer amazing benefits, such as making you stronger, cooler, or energetic. He makes the move to arrest – cut to next scene – and chases her around a parking lot until he delightfully captures the criminal. Agent Pedro then appears, offering a first person narrative of the encounter, which had sent the scam artist to jail. Now Pedro is in jail, taunting the criminal with jabs like: “your vitamin water can’t make you strong enough to get out of jail!” and later the scammer is sobbing, remorseful of the fate of her scheme.

Entirely conceived and written by 11-year old Lindsey Nielsen and 13 year-old Frankie Napoli, this is the context of a hilarious five-minute film the two created on a recent day at ORCTV Summer Youth Video Camp. Tailored to students between the ages of 11 and 14, these camps offer instruction on filmmaking right inside the ORCTV station headquarters. According to Kim Miot – Executive Director of ORCTV and leader of the sessions – the young students learn the entire process of filmmaking, from the original concept to the final film.

Sitting behind three large flat screen monitors with state-of-the-art editing software, Ms. Miot and her young team are editing the film. “First they learned how to do the script and create the storyboard, and then they film and edit it. You see the flow of the original idea into the finished piece,” she said. Ms. Miot explained that scenes are not filmed in chronological order. For instance, the outdoor scenes where Agent Pedro chases his criminal were filmed first because of pending rain. Another interesting fact shared by Ms. Miot is that each minute of a film typically requires about one hour of editing.

Overall, Ms. Miot said that the two-week camp – with three days of three-hour sessions each week – offers youngsters the opportunity to learn the art of filmmaking. “They are learning real professional skills and these kids pick it up better than adults because they aren’t afraid to try how different things work,” she said. The students get experience both in front and back of the camera and in and out of the studio, Ms. Miot added.

Ms. Nielsen and Mr. Napoli especially make a good team because of their dovetailing interests. Responding to what she likes best about the camp, Ms. Nielsen said: “I like editing and reviewing and seeing what you are doing while learning it.” Mr. Napoli said he likes the “snacks and filming more than the editing and action.” In addition to filmmaking, Ms. Miot also offers educational lessons on all aspects of television production. Ms. Miot said that Mr. Napoli has an especially good grasp of how media advertising works, including how commercials target audiences.

Both Ms. Nielson and

Mr. Napoli joined the camp due to encouragement from their mothers. “I was into film, and my mom and I were looking for more activities. It sounded really fun and it is,” said Ms. Nielsen on why she joined the camp. Additionally, she was inspired by her sister Kathryn, who also went through the program and now actively assists Ms. Miot with various programming efforts. Just recently both sisters worked together to create a program on the Marion Fourth of July Parade. “I learned about being on camera,” Ms. Nielsen said; the program now is playing on ORCTV.

And the fun continues. The next project for the aspiring film masters: a music video. The song chosen is Justin Bieber’s “Baby”, with Ms. Nielsen playing the role of Justin and Mr. Napoli as Ludacris.

According to Ms. Miot, the camp has been alive and strong for three years. Each year ORCTV offers a July and August session; currently there are still places available in the August session. In addition, the camp will kick into gear again over the February and April vacation weeks next year. For more information about the camps, contact Ms. Miot at (508) 748-1600.

MOVIE REVIEW

Real or Not

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

It's never quite clear what's real or unreal in Inception, and it becomes less clear as the end credits roll. This gargantuan and madly complex experiment — a $160 million art film — turns the viewer into a termite chewing through endless pages of text. Internet geeks will debate the meanings and symbols in Inception for months, perhaps years. Full of both eye-boggling action and mind-boggling dream logic, it bids fair to be the largest, heftiest cult film ever made. At times it's like Synecdoche, New York with gunmen on skis. The puppetmaster here, writer-director Christopher Nolan, has realized his trippy vision on a scale, and on a technical level, heretofore unimaginable.

If the emotions were there, Inception would be the grand slam many people are receiving it as. Instead it's a solid home run; we take pleasure in the crack of the bat and the triumph of the batter, Nolan, rounding the bases, but the hit doesn't bring anyone else home. It's a one-man parade, confetti thrown wildly in honor of Nolan's ingenuity, Nolan's cleverness. Ultimately, despite some deep-dish exposition about psychological depths, the movie isn't really about anything but cleverness. It's a gigantic chess game — a pivotal character is even named Robert Fischer — and we watch the pieces in play, often thrillingly, but seldom movingly. And since the whole plot turns on the desire of the hero, Dom Cobb (Leonardo DiCaprio), to get over the death of his wife (Marion Cotillard) and reunite with his children, the muted emotional engagement is a serious snag.

As pure filmmaking, though, Inception is masterful, in a league — no, a sport — all its own. Dom is hired by a Japanese businessman (Ken Watanabe) to enter the brain of a dying competitor's son (Cillian Murphy) and plant the idea that his dad's company should be broken up. As in any good heist film — this is a heist flick in reverse — Dom assembles his team, each with a specialty; there's the research guy (Joseph Gordon-Levitt, in the standout performance), the designer of the dream worlds (Ellen Page), and so on. These dream invaders talk on and on about the rules of dreams, and what you can and can't accomplish in dreams, and all of it is fascinating on a sci-fi level. Eventually we get dreams within dreams within dreams, a spiral draining down to a kind of stuck madness in which you can be unaware you're in a dream and spend decades there.

All of this is crisply visualized; the images have an epic grandeur, and in the sequence destined to be included in "Best Movie Fights" highlight reels, Joseph Gordon-Levitt bobs and weaves in mid-air in a hallway while fighting "projections" — unreal attackers — and trying to figure out a way to make an elevator simulate falling in a dreamspace with no gravity. The set pieces in Inception are gorgeously worked out; even the somewhat conventional-feeling ski-combat scenes play like a wink and a nod to James Bond (and by the way, this is a better 007 flick than any actual 007 flick we've gotten since the '70s). Cinematically, this is a keeper, a fireworks grand finale that goes on flashing and booming for two hours and twenty-eight minutes. But, oh, for some genuine heart, instead of a dead wife and two little kids we hardly know thrown in for obligatory motivation. I wasn't feeling it, and I suspect Nolan wasn't, either. If Dom merely took the final job as a self-challenge, to prove he could pull off the inception of an idea (as opposed to his much easier normal task of raiding people's subconscious for secrets), this might've been a higher-mind Kubrickian masterpiece. Instead, it's only brilliant at the money scenes. Which in itself makes it one of the few events worth your ticket money this summer. Nolan just needs to put more trust in his cold brain and keen eye; when he tries to get sappy, it doesn't wash.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Starting something new is always exciting for the adventurous Aries. And here's the good news: This time you might be able to get some assistance in helping you finish what you've started.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Put your day-dreaming penchant on hold for now, and face the facts as they are, not as you'd like them to be. Your customary hardheaded approach to "deals," etc., would be called for.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Problems beyond your control might delay some of your plans. But things should start to get back to normal by midweek. The weekend could bring an unexpected (but welcome) visitor.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's a good time to buckle down and tackle those unfinished tasks so you'll be ready to take on other projects. The week's end could bring an invitation from a most surprising source.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Mixed signals could create a few stressful moments for the Lion. But by midweek, explanations should help ease the tension. The weekend is party time! Share it with someone special.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good "catching up" week for finishing tasks, calling old friends and maybe reading that book you haven't opened yet or renting that movie you wanted to see again.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Money matters should be worked out, even if it takes time away from a more romantic situation. Better to settle things before feelings turn hard and angry on all sides.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A job-related problem could turn out to be less troublesome than it seemed at first. Just a few moments of talk 'twixt the parties resolves everything to everyone's satisfaction.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The Sagittarian Archer takes aim at health and fitness issues this week. Watch your diet, and try to put more exercise time into your typically busy schedule.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) As you continue to focus on a career or job change, it's a good time to look over some of your rarely used skills and see where they can fit into your future workplace plans.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A loved one's health might be worrisome, but there's good news by midweek. Expect people who share your ideas and your goals to try to contact you by the week's end.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A colleague's request that makes the typically perceptive Pisces feel uncomfortable is a request you probably will want to turn down. The weekend favors family get-togethers.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for making others feel warm and wanted. Even newcomers feel like old friends.

Nancy Sparklin and Mike Amaral, the show explores the many effects love has on our lives with humor and clever insights.

The talented cast includes: Mary Cardwell, Stephanie Caron, Sheila Furtado, Nicole Schaub, and Kim Teves. The trials and tribulations in the love lives of five women unfold as they sing everything from "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy" from South Pacific, to the classic, "I'll Be Seeing You," to the hilarious "I Hate Men" Over 30 songs in the show reveal the undisputed truisms of love – that it brings heart-thumping joy or pain as well as other surprises. In the end, the women come full circle, realizing that "Time Heals Everything," and we are, after all, surrounded by love if we only learn to love ourselves as in "My Own Best Friend," and finally return back to love's romance in "Love Changes Everything."

The diverse and rich voices of the women blend in fabulous harmonies throughout the thirty numbers with piano accompaniment by Nancy Sparklin and Jackie Scholz on percussion. Teah Mazzoni provides choreography with set design and artistic direction by
